WEATHER—Fair and warmer tonight; Sunday showers and colder.

Mr. Taft is a man of great poise—avoided pots.

Rhode Island is exercised in a contest over electing a man to say "Me too" to Senator Aldrich.

Philadelphia feels a little better since the San Francisco evidences of contentment with corruption.

When those 800 Chicago boiler-makers struck, the resulting silence, must have been almost deafening.

Foraker and Taft are at least calling attention to Ohio as the mother of presidents.

The recent flurry in Wall street has thrown a great many second-hand automobiles on the market.

Stamp collectors were greatly disappointed when the Jamestown exposition stamps did not put in an appearance yesterday.

Congressman Burton says Taft is the man. Now listen to the "Amens!" from the anti-machine republicans.

Of course, Senator Burton will try to get even with the President, but his jail record is a disadvantage.

The unkindest cut of all is from the New York Sun, which defines Wall street as "a celebrated gambling hell."

Chicago has just passed through the throes of a mayoralty contest, but New York doesn't know yet who was elected two years ago.

Gov. Folk called an extra session of the legislature, but he can hardly keep it from adjourning again.

Senator Cullen talks about President Harrison as if he had invested in those Chicago and Alton bonds.

Senator Cullum will henceforth be classed as a radical. He believes that Harrison ought to be in the penitentiary.

Mr. Mellen's experience must not have been reassuring to the other railroad presidents, who expected to call on Mr. Roosevelt.

We should all be thankful that there are no Jamestown Exposition twenty dollar gold pieces to corral. It's hard enough to get hold of the regulation coins.

While President Roosevelt was attending the Jamestown exposition opening, the people engaged in a stampede, but it wasn't a patchin' to the one when Alice was in Columbus.

MARION'S FIRST

SPORTING SECTION.

This is the age of progress. Advancement is the watchword all along the line, and especially is this true of Marion and all of her industries. Every factory in the city is increasing its size in order to take care of its rapidly increasing business, building is the order of the day and every other day in all parts of the city, and the number of persons coming to the city each year is surprising. In fact Marion is rapidly becoming metropolitan.

As further evidence of the steady advancement, the Mirror today publishes a special section devoted entirely to sporting news. This is the first time in the city's history that such a move has been attempted and we feel a deep sense of pride in presenting this feature, which we believe will be appreciated by the people of the city. Neither time, expense nor labor has been spared in giving to our patrons, and all lovers of the National game this section which we feel certain will be appreciated.

Marion's experience in professional baseball is rather limited. Not quite one year ago we broke into the old Inter-state league which did not last long, but that was not because Marion joined the league. Later opportunity was afforded to purchase a team and franchise in the Ohio and Pennsylvania league and some of the most enthusiastic lovers of the game lost no time in seizing the opportunity. During the remaining part of last year's season in the O. & P. there was discussion among the players, the park was located too far from the city, the players were total strangers in the city and in fact conditions were all unfavorable. Yet the remainder of the season was successful. This season, many new players have been secured and Manager Drumm says he will brook no warring among players, a new ball park has been made close to the city and the season which opens next Wednesday, (King Winter and Jupiter Pluvius being willing), promises to be a success.

Recognizing the growing demand of Marion people for baseball as shown by the interest taken in the arrangements for the season, the Mirror undertook issuing its special baseball section which is presented to its readers this evening.

Upon the first page of this section, some idea is given of the facilities which have been secured exclusively by this paper. This league of newspapers, consisting of the leading paper in each city represented in the O. & P. league, insures the very best line upon the various teams, especially the home team, during the entire season of one hundred and forty games. This service entails no small expense and almost unlimited work and we trust that our efforts to please baseball lovers, whether regular fans or not, will be appreciated.

Advancement has been the motto of the Mirror ever since the present management took charge of the paper. No opportunity to give the people of the city as nearly a metropolitan paper as is possible in a city of 20,000 people has been overlooked and this same policy will be pursued in the future as vigorously as in the past.

MRS. STORY MAY MARRY BUT NOT SO WITH JULIAN

New York, April 27.—A supreme court justice today confirmed the report of Referee Buck, in the application of Mrs. Emma Eames Story, the prima donna for absolute divorce from Julian Story, the noted artist. The decree gives Mrs. Story the right to remarry, but Story is forbidden to marry.

WALDO'S MARSHAL

Faces Charge of Assault and Battery.

BOUND OVER TO COURT

Retterer Says Schroats Bears Grudge Against Him

Regular Rough and Tumble Fight Takes Place Between Men on Streets of the Village.

Again is Marshal John Schroats of Waldo having his troubles. Saturday morning the marshal was arrested on an affidavit filed in Justice Thompson's court, charging him with assault and battery. He was brought here by Constable James K. Redd and waived examination. Justice Thompson bound him over to the grand jury on a bond of $300, which Schroats furnished and secured his release.

The arrest of Schroats resulted from an occurrence at Waldo, Friday afternoon, in which the marshal, a man and a baby figured. Retterer, so the story goes, had returned from attending the funeral of a relative. He was standing on the main street of Waldo in company with his wife and holding his baby.

Schroats came up and proceeded to arrest Retterer for drunkenness. Retterer claimed that he was not drunk and resisted the officer. A tussle ensued and in the melee the baby was dropped in a pool of water which stood in the roadway.

While the two men rolled about on the ground, unmindful of the baby's fate Mrs. Retterer rescued the little one from its uncomfortable and precarious position. The marshal finally overpowered Retterer and took him before Mayor Alexanders. The mayor lectured Retterer and then liberated him.

Immediately afterward Mr. and Mrs. Retterer came to Marion and the wife filed an affidavit for Schroats' arrest, charging him with assault and battery. Retterer claims that Schroats bears a grudge against him.

About two years ago Schroats was arrested on a similar charge filed by a man from Norton, who claimed that he had been taken into custody by Schroats without cause.

A number of neighbors and friends perpetrated a very pleasant surprise upon Mrs. A. Frye at her home in Prospect Friday evening. The occasion was honoring a birthday anniversary and proved a memorable one. The evening was spent at various social diversions and an elegant luncheon was one of the special features.

Painting Under Difficulties.

A. A. Roussoff is a Russian painter of Arctic scenes. To produce his sketches he was compelled to make toilsome and hazardous journeys, during which he could only use charcoal and pastel. It was not possible, save in the spring, to use oil colors, and even then it was hard to mix them, the paints being frozen. "Some of my sketches," he says, "I painted in the open air when it was bitterly cold. I had to put on fur gloves to hold the brush and work with rapid and energetic strokes. There were moments when my hands were frozen and refused service, my brush splitting with the cold. Yet I continued, having the ardent desire to fix on the canvas all those fantastic phenomena of the far north, so full of fascinating charm."

MAN EATING SCOUT FOUND DEAD IN CANYON

Denver, Colo., April 27.—The body of Alfred Packer, known as the "Man Eater," whose death occurred Wednesday in Deer Creek canyon, was brought to Littleton yesterday. Packer, who was an army scout, started to guide a party of five men from Salt Lake City to New Mexico in 1873. They became lost in the mountains where the snow was six feet deep and Packer alone survived. The bodies of the other five men were later found. One body was dismembered.

FORMER RAILROAD

Doty said that he would make an investigation today. The vessel remained at quarantine last night, and will come up to her dock this forenoon.

Mr. Wilcox was feeling poorly, it was stated, when he took passage on the Barbarossa at Naples, April 13. He did not appear to improve, and on Wednesday died in his stateroom. The thought of suicide did not occur to those on shipboard.

Mr. Wilcox was born in Flatbush, L. I., Dec. 12, 1849. He was graduated from Yale in 1872 and was admitted to the bar at Poughkeepsie in 1874. He was vice president of the Delaware & Hudson from 1900 to 1903. He was president and general manager of the road and of several of its subsidiary companies from 1903 until his retirement from the presidency.

He was president and director of the United Traction Co., of Albany, director and member of the executive committee of the Southern Pacific Railway Co., director of the Union Pacific Railway Co. He was a member of many clubs in this city. Mr. Wilcox never married.

New York, April 27.—Worry over financial losses, grief for his brother, who died a year ago, coupled with continued ill health, are believed to have been the causes of the suicide of David Wilcox, former president of the Delaware & Hudson river railroad, who shot himself, Wednesday, on the steamer Barbarossa, while returning from Europe. It was stated today that Wilcox had been a loser in the rich man's panic in March.

News of the suicide created great sensation, Thursday when his stateroom was forced open. Wilcox was found with a wound in his temple, and a revolver by his side.
